Why Choose Gray & Pape?

At Gray & Pape, we believe in fostering a workplace that values innovation, teamwork, and growth. With our hybrid work model—2 days in the office, 3 days remote—we offer the perfect balance of collaboration and autonomy. Your expertise will help us tackle engaging challenges in preservation while you enjoy competitive pay, comprehensive benefits, and opportunities to make a real difference.

What You'll Do at Gray & Pape:

As a Senior Principal Investigator – Architectural Historian, you'll lead and manage:

- Historical research and architectural documentation projects.
- National Register evaluations and CRM compliance efforts.
- Client relationships and project execution, ensuring the highest professional standards.
- Team supervision and mentoring, fostering the next generation of CRM leaders.

You'll also have the chance to work on a variety of diverse projects and contribute to the development of market sectors and clients in our growing company.

What You Bring to Gray & Pape:

- An MA/MS in Architectural History or a related discipline, meeting the Secretary of the Interior's Professional Qualification Standards.
- 10+ years of CRM consulting experience, including 5+ years directing architectural surveys.
- Deep expertise in the National Register of Historic Places and Section 106 compliance.
- Strong skills in fieldwork, photography (film and digital), GIS/GPS mapping, and client management.
- Proven leadership in project management and effective communication.

Preferred:

- Experience with complex project budgets and scopes.
- A strong background in Section 106 consultation and agreement documentation.

Travel:

Up to 30%, with occasional extended stays.
